UK AND SCOTTISH LAW COMMISSIONS SURROGACY CONSULTATION

This important consultation is about new legislation that aims to encourage surrogacy in the UK. The proposals include paying women substantial fees to rent their wombs, allowing commercially driven surrogacy agencies, removing all restrictions on advertising surrogacy services, allowing commissioning parents to gain legal parenthood at the moment of birth, no welfare checks, no age restrictions, and no limit to how many such pregnancies women can undertake.

Some of these proposals violate binding legal obligations under human rights conventions.

Babies as commodities; women as production lines; a feeding chain of lawyers and agencies; birth mothers stripped of legal recognition; no welfare checks; no age limits; Facebook presenting ads to young women suggesting becoming a 'surrogate' would be the solution to their financial worries; and more...
